This chapter will conclude the finding of this study and give some suggestions to other writer who wants to do research in the same subject.

5.1 Conclusion

Based on data analysis and research finding which is conducted by the writer in chapter four. The writer concludes based on problem of the research in the chapter one. They are as follows:

1. Types of euphemism which are found in the Jakarta post online newspaper related to the educational issues are divided into five types they are: acronym, circumlocution, idiom, hyperbole and litotes (understatement).
2. Function of euphemism which are found in the Jakarta post online newspaper related to educational issues are as follows: to inform (convey new information), evaluate (conveys writer's opinion or attitude), modalism (conveys writer's attitude toward the truth-value of his/her utterance or writing) and organize.

5.2 Suggestions

The result of research finding does not claim that has discovered all of the euphemism used in the educational issues of the Jakarta post online newspaper. However, this research still away from the complete and perfect. The writer herself hopes that this research could give a good contribution to the further writers who will developed and conduct the research on euphemism.

First, it is hoped for further writer to conduct the research, which not only focused on types and function of euphemism of the written language but also in oral language. Second, it is hoped that the study of euphemism is not focused on English language but also in other language. The last, the writer also suggests to the further writers to study euphemism used related to the effectiveness in communication, how far it is effective or not.
